Personality Development -by Ms. Vaishali Tyagi

Adore Earth:

It is a very great initiative taken by you people for the people who need this. Senior citizens who didn't get an opportunity for appropriate education at their prime age will benefit from this.

In addition to this, young volunteers who are providing a helping hand will also benefit from this, increasing their knowledge by sharing it, mastering their communication skills, and public speaking ability.

I have analyzed your organization is keeping session/webinars from foreign country speakers which is another great achievement for you guys and also, it's a golden opportunity for all the people under this organization's influence to attend this kind of session/webinars as it provides a lot of other than just bookish knowledge like the speaker's experiences.

Young kids who are the future of our country need to discover their talents.

Everyone is creative in different fields not just being good at an academic subject, it's extremely important to unlock their strengths and weakness. Your organization does that part in a very well form. Young kids are offered to share their creative works related to make the best out of waste and saving the environment.

Teaching them Communicative English, Basic Computer skills, Presentation skills, Assertiveness, and many more. Giving them a platform to share their thoughts and opinions. Promoting their decent ideas and helping them to accomplish them.

To conduct interactive workshops on topics that kids typically find challenging to understand or to discuss with their parents and instructors, you connect with kids in schools. These sessions cover a range of crucial subjects, including child safety, overcoming fear, career choice, peer pressure, and many others.

By talking about and enticing the students with stimulating and thought-provoking discussion questions, you educate the students with some of the important themes, creating vital classroom learning opportunities.

The source of love, hope, and dreams starts at home. Your initiative Kindle aims to give youngsters from various households a mentor and a guide. This program's vision is to offer children from the diverse background a core and solid education. Having a mentor and guide who can act as their adult buddy would be beneficial for the kids.

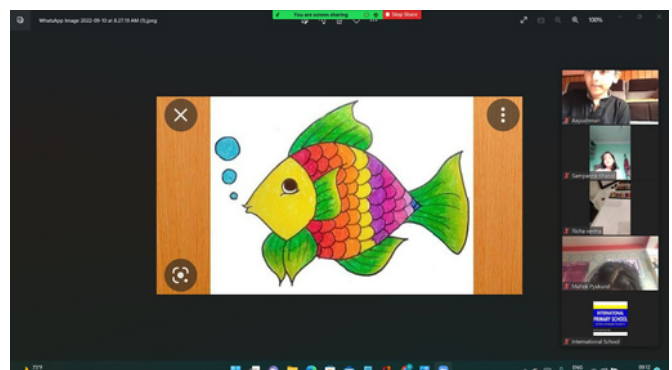

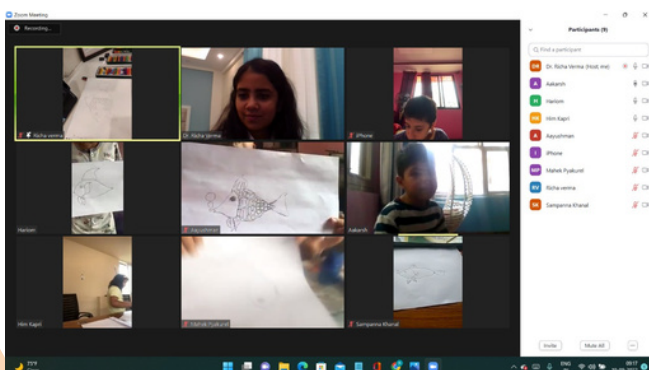

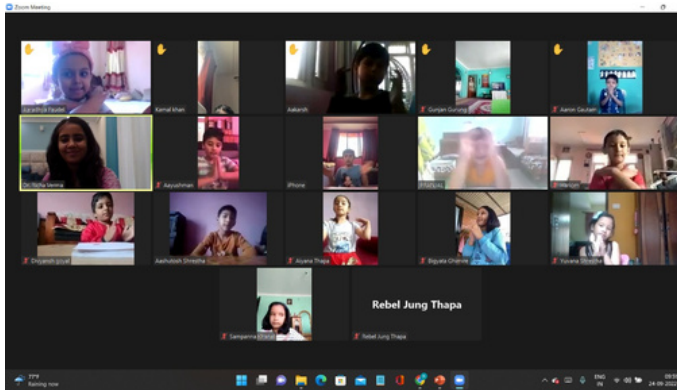

The more people associating and connecting with your organization, the more helping hands for the people in need of this. Awareness about your organization should be spread more so other people who want to help can join you.
